To Whom it May Concern:

Michael Saks has worked as a freelance copywriter and social media specialist for SRJ Marketing Communications on a variety of projects for my clients. He has produced compelling content week after week for our social media program that has caught the attention of the communities we have targeted. Here is a dichotomy of some of the projects he has worked on:

- Health related social media campaigns for Facebook and Twitter
- Health related copy for both print and radio campaigns
- Content and article creation of marketing and health subjects for medical groups, hospitality accounts, and SRJ Marketing Communications

He is dedicated and reliable and also has a breadth of digital marketing skills. He would be an asset to any advertising or marketing firm.

Respectfully,
